My dear Miss Tarbell:

Thank you most heartily for the autograph in "All in the Day's Work." I shall put it in first place on the shelf with my best loved books.

I have read about half of the book and am enjoying it immensely. I am familiar with all the country you describe and having spent a great deal of time abstracting land titles and working on the Huidekoper and other local histories the people are also like old friends.

The tea on April the fourteenth was very nice but you were not there. The very first thing everyone asked upon arriving was "Where is Miss Tarbell - without you it was not complete.

Several letters from Leadville tell how much they all are enjoying you and your lectures. I hope you are finding everything you want the way you want it.

With every good wish and again saying "Thank you", I remain

Very sincerely yours,

Sara Bave

I have been racking my brain for the names of the three in the picture with you and Miss Carter. They are familiar but I have not yet captured the names.
