

Tarbell

John M. Harrington,
Attorney and Counselor at Law.
27 William Street,
New York.

March 7, 1917.

Miss Ida M. Tarbell,
132 East 19th Street,
New York.

My dear Miss Tarbell:

Your letter of January 19, ~~acknowledging~~ receipt of a copy of the 4-page circular describing "The Freeport Plan" of campaign initiated last fall by the South Side Democratic Club, has been received.

Inasmuch as our first edition is almost exhausted, we expect to issue very soon a second edition, consisting of eight pages, the additional pages of which will contain some matter referring to our four-year campaign and carry advertisements of books upon the tariff and other dignified subjects.

Please advise me whether or not you would care to have your excellent book "The Tariff in Our Times" advertised upon our circular.

It should be added that your book had never come to my attention before our first edition was printed. Otherwise, I should have referred to it.

The enclosures will give you some idea of the changes and additions we are contemplating for our second edition.

Yours very truly,
John M. Harrington

P. S. An advertising man advises me that rates for advertising upon the first 10,000 copies of the second edition of our circular should be as follows:

Outside back cover, $100 (special price);
1/2 inside page opposite reading matter, $60 and
1/4 inside page opposite reading matter, $30.

J. M.H.