My dear Mrs. Earl:

I am always glad to have a mistake in anything that I have published corrected. I have not by me the original of the photograph from which the illustration you refer to was made. It is packed away in files that I cannot get to at the moment. I obtained it through the Lincolns in Harrisonburg and Lacey Springs. My impression is that the name was on the back of the photograph. That I can only verify, of course, by looking at the original.

The documents you sent seem conclusive and you can depend upon my following the matter up and correcting the mistake in a future edition.

Sincerely yours,

IMT BNK.
