

July 28, 1932

Dear Mr. Bueno:

My attention had already been called to the corrections from the Christian Leader and I passed on to someone in your organization, I have forgotten who it was, an order for correction before the second printing.

As a matter of fact the mis-spelling of Schoharie and the wrong initial in Lee's name were the only matters of moment. Popularly, where the Palatines first settled are called the "Dutch Flats," although as the Christian Leader says they were settled by Germans and not by Dutch people. the land

As for not mentioning the Young tower in Washington I did not mention several important gifts of Mr. Young, not making a point of his generosity which as a matter of fact is very large.

Thanking you for calling my attention to the matter, believe me

Very truly yours

Mr. J. R. de la Torre Bueno, Jr.
Macmillan Company
60 Fifth Avenue
New York City