

October 5, 1931

My dear Mr. Perkins:

Thank you for responding so promptly and generously to my letter of October First.

It will be even more convenient for me to go in Boston the week of the Nineteenth; as I have several engagements there I shall arrange to stay for several days. I will go up Monday morning and will see you in the afternoon of Monday or the afternoon of Thursday, the Twenty second, if that is more convenient. If I am to be there until the end of the week as now seem probable I can make my time suit yours, asking only that you let me know as soon as convenient just which of the dates that you mentioned will be really the more convenient for you.

Thanking you heartily for your courtesy in the matter, believe me my dear Mr. Perkins

Very sincerely yours

Mr. Thomas N. Perkins
